2. Citations and explanations

The present claim 1 relates to a system for managing a communication network-dedicated architecture on a terminal, wherein the connection to the communication network is established via a mobile network, which system includes a dedicated-architecture manager integrated into said terminal and capable of managing a communication network-dedicated architecture and simultaneously processing the operation of said terminal (MT) connected to a plurality of communication networks.

Such a system is already known from document WO-A-02/09451.

Cited document WO-A-02/09451 discloses a system for managing a communication network-dedicated architecture on a terminal, wherein the dedicated-architecture manager is integrated into said terminal and can simultaneously establish a plurality of connections to different communication networks (PDP context). Each connection is intended for a dedicated architecture and is associated with an address from each of the communication networks in order to identify the terminal.

In the event that identical addresses are allocated to different networks, problems of confidentiality and security arise with respect to the data transmitted via the services of the various communication networks.

The invention aims to overcome these drawbacks and, in accordance with the claimed system, lies in the fact that the dedicated-architecture manager is capable of separately managing a simultaneous connection to a plurality of communication networks and separately managing a plurality of networks.

It follows that the subject matter of claim 1 is novel and is also considered to involve the required inventive step (PCT Article 33(2) and 33(3)).

Moreover, the subject matter of claim 1 is industrially applicable (PCT Article 33(4)).

The subject matter of claim 5, which relates to a dedicated-architecture manager for the system of claim 1, also fulfils the requirements of PCT Article 33(1).

The subject matter of independent claim 6, which relates to a management method for the system of claim 1, also fulfils the requirements of PCT Article 33(1).

Dependent claims 2 to 4 relate, respectively, to additional features of the system defined in independent claim 1 and, therefore, also fulfil the requirements of PCT Article 33(1).
